WOFFORD

The present Senior Class at Wofford has seen epochal advances in the progress of the college. § Considerable amounts have been added to the material resources of the institution. The endowment has been substantially increased and new scholarships are now available. The curriculum has been expanded; a number of new courses, including an entire division of aeronautics, are now open to students. The faculty has been increased by the addition of several new teachers. § The alumni association is now well organized and has a full-time secretary to handle its affairs. The new athletic program, initiated last fall, bids fair to succeed. Debate activities have been reorganized. A chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, has been established. Finally, but by no means least, is the assurance that a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa will be established here next fall. § The present Senior Class is happy and proud to have been here during this period of great progress. We look forward eagerly to a future of even greater usefulness and progress for our college. We are proud that we are Wofford men!

and the MAKE-UP---

The Bohemian of 1940 has a number of changes from the annuals of the past several years. The student will notice that the divisions are not arranged as they were last year, and that the content of these divisions varies somewhat from the customary. ¶ This year's Bohemian has a beauty section—the first in several years. It is hoped that this will prove an added attraction for the reader. ¶ The annual represents the best efforts of the entire staff. We sincerely hope that you like it!

HENRY NELSON SNYDER, A.B., A.M., LL.D., Litt.D.

President of Wofford College

Dr. Snyder is widely known and greatly admired as an educator and churchman. His work at Wofford is of the highest order. However, his contributions to the field of education are not limited to the presidency of Wofford College. He is a productive scholar, the author of several books; and he has served on the State Board of Education and as a member of his church's General Board of Christian Education. An orator of note, Dr. Snyder has a combination of those qualities which make men of genius.

ARTHUR MASON DuPRÉ, A.B., M.A., Wofford
College; LL.D., Furman University
Dean; Professor of Mathematics and Latin

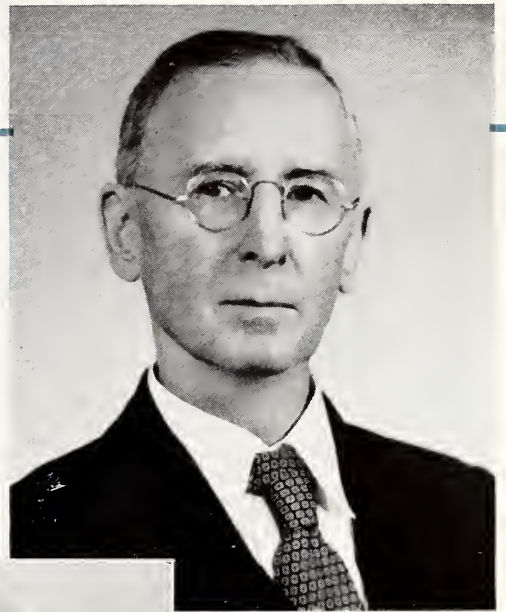

Dean A. Mason DuPré is one of Wofford's greatest assets. Since he entered Wofford College forty-nine years ago as a freshman he has never lost his connection with the institution. First as headmaster of the fitting school, then as professor, and finally as dean of the college he is justly regarded as a man of deep moral conviction, of profound scholarship, and of absolute justice in his dealings with everyone. Few Wofford men are more universally admired and respected.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Wofford Student Council performs the usual functions of a college student council. Its membership is composed of R. W. Atkinson, President of the Student Body; R. R. Watts, President of the Honor System; J. A. Workman, Vice-President of the Student Body; T. E. Walsh, Secretary of the Student Body; A. M. Covington, Treasurer of the Student Body; Baker Lucas, President of the Senior Class; D. A. Yongue, President of the Junior Class; R. B. Burnett, President of the Sophomore Class; and A. C. Moore, Jr., President of the Freshman Class.

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD

The Publications Board was founded in 1935 by vote of the student body. The membership consists of four faculty members named by the president of the college and four students. Of the students two are elected from the Senior Class and one each from the Junior and Sophomore Classes. ¶ The Board elects the editors and business managers of the Bohemian, Old Gold and Black, and Journal. It has strict control over the financial affairs of the publications, though it has no voice in editorial questions. The Board meets regularly on the first Tuesday of each month. THE PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

The Pan-Hellenic Council of Wofford College is composed of the presidents and one additional member of the social fraternities on the campus. The presidency of the group rotates among the fraternities. ¶ The Council has full control over inter-fraternity affairs. It designates the rushing season in the fall and has charge of pledge day. It also takes the lead in sponsoring inter-fraternity affairs.

Bohemian WOFFORD'S YEARBOOK

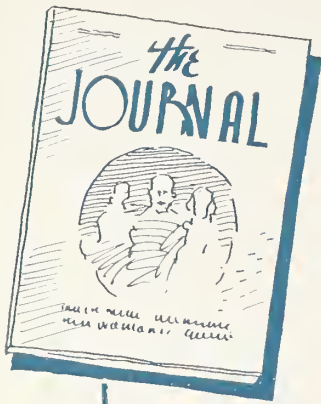

The Bohemian, the Wofford College annual, is intended to be a pictorial history of the school year. It contains almost innumerable pictures with write-ups. ¶ The Bohemian is a rather considerable business venture. By close economy and advantageous contracts the price of pictures has been materially reduced over a period of several years. Most of the credit for this is due to the persistent efforts of Professor Bourne, the faculty adviser. ¶ All annuals represent a tremendous amount of work on the part of their staffs, and this annual is no exception. The book is a product of the combined efforts of the staff, faculty adviser, photographer, engraver, and printer. We hope it meets with your approval!

The JOURNAL

The Journal, Wofford's literary magazine, this year celebrated its fiftieth anniversary, following this theme throughout its five issues. First published in 1889 under the editorship of such men as Senator E. D. Smith, Dr. W. P. Few and the late Bishop E. D. Mouzon, the November issue of the fiftieth anniversary year contained contributions from Senator Smith and Dr. Few; and throughout the succeeding issues articles by prominent alumni writers were featured. ¶ At the State Collegiate Press Association convention held at Clemson College in November, articles having appeared in The Journal won three first places, outdistancing all other publications in the state in this respect. ¶ Besides the usual run of short stories, poems and essays, the contents of this year's issues included a greater variety of interviews, sketches, features and pictures than ever before. ¶ Thus the editor attempted to modernize the appearance and content of the magazine, retaining at the same time the true literary merit of the publication.

The Old Gold and Black is Wofford's weekly newspaper, published by and for the students of the college. The paper, until 1935 was published spasmodically, usually from ten to fifteen issues yearly. In 1935 the Publications Board took over the control of publications and issues appeared regularly at two-week intervals. For the school year 1938-39 the paper was published weekly as an experiment and this year it has continued on that schedule as a permanent policy. ¶ The Old Gold and Black is a valuable news agency for the campus and the community, containing news stories, feature articles, sports write-ups, editorials, and gossip. It is eagerly read each Saturday by the students. The paper frequently carries illustrations. It is printed on substantial paper, and is usually well written and edited. ¶ The paper is financed by local and national advertising, by student activities funds, and by subscription funds.

The primary purpose of a college annual is to show college life as it is—work as well as play. The Wofford student does his full share of work in the classroom, in the library, and in the laboratory. ¶ Wofford College is an educational institution of the highest order. As such, it expects and receives much from its students. Favored by a fine and well-stocked library and excellent scientific laboratories, the student finds opportunity for creative efforts in the field of scholarship. In this he is aided and guided by his professors. ¶ The professors seek to find and cultivate any special aptitudes the student may have, and thus develop in the student a strong personality. ¶ Many courses require a specified amount of parallel reading. Practically all the science courses require laboratory periods. The boys accept all this philosophically. Extra curricular activities and social life are fun, but after all, college is an educational institution, and it does require work—a lot of it.

HISTORY OF THE SENIOR CLASS

Four years ago a new group of boys came to this campus. They came from all directions and many states. This group, like all others, had a purpose in coming to Wofford. This purpose stood out more in some than in others—but at least all had big ideas. ¶ As the years have passed, these men have shown their prowess in numerous fields. Some have interested themselves in religion, science, athletics, and even politics. Yes—this group had its share of talent and has displayed it tremendously in the years spent at Wofford. ¶ After the happy days in college we linger and are very reluctant in departing. As we came from all parts of the country, we leave for we know not where. But one thing we shall have in common—the Wofford tradition and spirit which has been instilled into our souls as students of this institution.

HISTORY OF THE JUNIOR CLASS

The saying "A guy's wisest days are his sophomore days" is often pinned on a helpless sophomore merely because he tries to instill the same school spirit in freshmen that was emphasized so strongly his freshman year. But now, we, the junior class of 1939-40 have passed that milestone and have entered into the last half of our college career. Among us are men that are very promising in scholarship, politics, and athletics. Quite a number of men on the athletic teams are juniors. As usual, we lost a number of men at the beginning of the school year, but they were replaced by others who transferred here from junior colleges. ¶ Shortly after our return to school in September twenty-six of us were chosen for the advanced corps of the R. O. T. C. This was a welcomed honor for the fortunate ones, and now we look with enthusiasm to our six weeks at camp and to our senior year when we will be commissioned officers. ¶ Now that each of us has acquired through these past three years a knowledge of how to take advantage of every opportunity and how to make social contacts we feel confident that we can fill the vacancy that will be left in June by the senior class of 1940.

HISTORY OF SOPHOMORE CLASS

If one has never had the honor of being called a sophomore, he knows not the feeling that goes along with the name. As a sophomore, he is at last in a place where his word bears force. As freshmen, we entered college feeling we knew almost everything; but the upperclassmen soon let us know just how dumb we were. Naturally we resented this; but our resentment gave way to the realization that it was only for our good, and that we were not being lorded over by the sophomores. Keeping in mind all that we had learned, we returned to start the class of '43 on the straight and narrow road of college life. ¶ Our class has given to the football squad several players who will long be remembered for their service, and we expect some of them to lead the march of the Terriers in '41. We gave several men to the basketball squad and we are looking forward to hearing great things of them. We gave our all to the tennis and track teams. We have a number of scholars, and many of our men have been chosen for places in the honorary fraternities. We also have our speakers, debaters, and a few excellent politicians—all in all, we have a class to be remembered.

HISTORY OF FRESHMAN CLASS

One hundred and sixty dazed freshmen, the largest class in the history of the college, enrolled at the office, and after a few instructions were shown to their rooms. ¶ No sooner had we become somewhat acquainted with the rules and ways of the college than another whirlwind struck—rushing season. Even though we were greatly puzzled, we certainly enjoyed the set-ups; the total of all the boys pledged by fraternities was eighty-one. ¶ Thirty-five made the Dean's List and eighteen placed on the Glee Club or Terrier Aces Orchestra. Six of these went on the annual tour. ¶ The freshman football team didn't fare so well, but the basketball team more than made up for any setbacks. ¶ Among the many activities that we entered into were debates, declamation contests, religious duties, intramural sports and a newly installed aviation course. ¶ Now that the shock, disappointment, surprise, and adjustment have been experienced, we know that there's nothing anywhere like college life.

THE BAND

The Military Band is composed of students who are interested in music and who can play band instruments with some degree of excellence. They are ably instructed and directed by Warrant Officer Jenkins, who is band instructor for the 118th Infantry Regimental Band. This organization is to be commended for its excellent work, and for the service rendered during the battalion parade of the year.

and the RIFLE TEAM

The Rifle Team is made up of those men especially proficient in rifle marksmanship. The team takes part in inter-collegiate matches and has made a good record.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

Scabbard and Blade is the national honorary military society, founded to promote more intimate relationships among the senior cadet officers. The society was founded in 1904 at the University of Wisconsin, and Wofford got its chapter, which is known as "M" Company, Sixth Regiment, in 1924.

Last fall the Civil Aeronautics Authority selected Wofford as one of the schools to offer flying instructions to its students and fixed the quota here at twenty men. The course includes much theoretical work as well as the actual flying instruction. The ground or theoretical work is under the direction of Professor E. H. Shuler, assisted by Professor C. S. Pettis, and classes meet three nights each week, carrying full college credit. The flight instruction is given at Memorial Airport by Colonel Bob Turner and Dick Bomar.

THE QUARTET
Buhrman, Bethea, Goldfinch, Williams

The Glee Club has concluded one of its most successful seasons. During the month of February the annual tour was made and the group was very favorably received. Besides this tour, the club rendered a number of concerts in nearby towns and colleges. ¶ The Glee Club's program is balanced to suit any musical taste. Important parts of the organization are the quartet and orchestra which accompany the club on its trips. They, too, create much praise wherever they go.

The Preston Literary Society has faithfully served Wofford College as a training ground in public expression for more than eighty years. Many men who have received public recognition in the state and nation once graced the halls of the Preston Literary Society. ¶ Since membership in literary societies was made voluntary by action of the faculty, the Preston, along with the other societies, has not had as active a membership as would be most desirable for a literary organization. It continues, however, in the face of difficulties, to give the students at Wofford a chance to express themselves in writing and in speech before a group. It affords the students an opportunity to develop and strengthen the powers of the mind. ¶ All officers of the Preston are elected to serve for one term with a single exception: the exception being the treasurer who is elected to serve the entire school year.

AND THE Carlisle Literary SOCIETY

The three presidents: Gibson, Rainwater, and Caviness.

The Carlisle Literary Society is one of the oldest of the campus organizations, having been founded in 1905. It is the largest of the literary societies. ¶ The society participates in all the college's related fields such as Freshman Declamation, Sophomore Exhibition, and the Oratorical Contest. Stress is laid upon individual participation in programs. It is the aim of the society for each member to be a proficient speaker and at absolute ease on his feet. ¶ The programs consist of essays, orations, debates, current events and extemporaneous speeches.

Debating ON THE

The debate team has had a successful season, meeting a number of leading teams in this section. The team boasts a number of letter men and a freshman group which shows promise. § The debate team sponsors a weekly broadcast over Station WSPA, Spartanburg, each Tuesday afternoon. Five debaters under the direction of the debate manager regularly participate in these programs. Occasionally a guest speaker appeared on the program. These programs were well received and caused quite a bit of comment. The regular participants were W. C. Carnes, H. B. Snyder, T. E. Walsh, G. W. Wilkes, and W. T. Lander, Jr.

Control of debating at Wofford is vested in the Gavel, honorary public speaking fraternity, which in turn names a five-man Debate Council to exercise direct supervision. The Council is composed of the President of the Gavel, the Debate Manager, and the Faculty Adviser, ex officio; and two members elected by the Gavel. The group meets regularly to make necessary plans and arrangements for the debate season.

THE DEBATE CLUB

The Debate Club is composed of all men who are interested in debate. The group meets periodically and discusses questions for debate and general debate strategy. Its meetings have proven very helpful to the members.

The S. C. A.

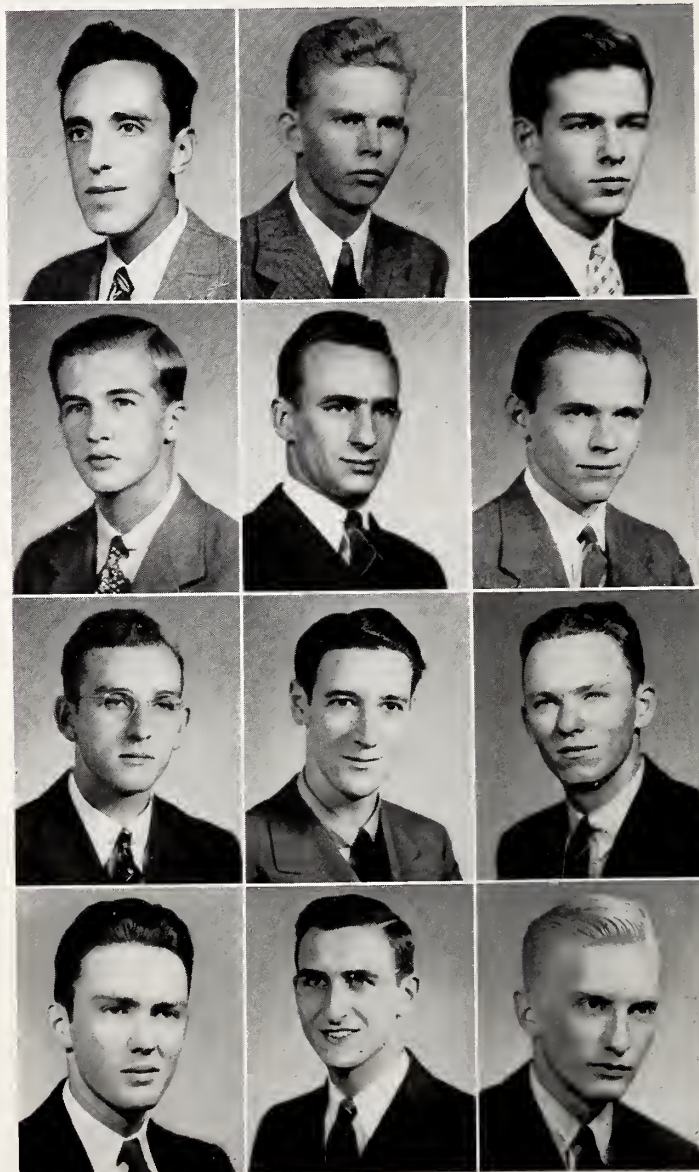

The Student Christian Association is the center of religious activities on the campus. Its aim is to keep the student in active contact with his individual church. The S. C. A. also attempts to give to the student a spiritual knowledge and benefit. ¶ Every student is a member of the S. C. A., and the organization is supported by contributions of students in their activity fee. ¶ Every Thursday evening at 7:15 a meeting is held for worship and study, and a varied program is presented. ¶ The S. It also sponsors weekly prayer meetings in the dormitories as well as candlelight and sunrise services. ¶ The S. C. A. sends students to all religious conferences sponsored by South Carolina students. Among the conferences are the Young People's Leadership Conference, Baptist Student Conference, South Carolina Methodist Student Conference, and many others. ¶ The S. C. A. has sent deputation teams to other schools and in return has entertained others. ¶ There are thirteen members of the S. C. A. cabinet and these men transact all business concerning the organization. This year the organization published a booklet of daily devotionals written by students, sponsored a reception for Wofford and Converse students, a banquet, and other activities.

The Student-Campus Relations Committee.

The Student-Church Relations Committee and the Student Campus Relations Committee are closely related, although each has distinctly a different aim. ¶ The purpose of the former is to harmonize the religious life on both the Converse and Wofford College campuses with that of the churches in Spartanburg having a sizable representation in the enrollment of each institution. The committee studies problems entering into the relationship between the churches and students, and endeavors to solve them in the best possible manner. Members of the Committee are composed of both faculty and student representatives of the two colleges, and of representatives of the denominations with which the students of both institutions are affiliated. ¶ The aim of the Student-Campus Relations Committee is to harmonize the religious life on the Wofford campus so as to attain complete unity of religious efforts. Representatives of the various religious groups within the student body and faculty counselors, compose the membership of this Committee.

BAPTIST STUDENT'S UNION

The Baptist Student's Union was organized on the Wofford campus in 1938. Its purpose is to encourage church attendance and to co-operate with existing groups in promoting religious work on the campus. ¶ The organization has proven quite active during the past year. During Religious Emphasis Week the B. S. U. sponsored prayer meetings each morning. It co-operated with the Student's Christian Association in planning for the Palm Sunday sunrise service, and did valuable work among the students during the Church Loyalty Crusade. It is the directing group of the more than one hundred Baptist students at Wofford.

WOFFORD GOES TO THE Lyceum

The Lyceum was originated by Dr. J. A. Gamewell in 1897. The course is for the purpose of stimulating the knowledge and culture of Wofford students and friends by bringing ideas and personalities of famous people to the college. ¶ Dr. Gamewell himself is enough to attract celebrities to our college. He was voted last year to the "Campus Column of Acclaim," the honor roll of the college. He was lauded by Life Magazine as being the oldest active professor in American colleges. ¶ The Lyceum Committee secured during the school year people who proved their greatness in every case. ¶ As the Bohemian goes to press the Lyceum has presented two numbers so far this year. In the fall Cornelia Otis Skinner was presented to a capacity audience at the Converse College auditorium by the Lyceum Committee. ¶ In February Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the noted Arctic explorer, was presented in the college chapel to a crowded house. ¶ Due to the retirement of Dr. Gamewell, the active management of the Lyceum has been in the hands of Dr. Albert Stanbury.

The International Relations Club, Wofford College's only society to honor excellence in scholarship, was organized in 1922, being the second organization of its kind in the South. Maintenance of an average of ninety throughout the college course is one qualification for membership in the group, which is limited to forty men. At its fortnightly meetings, subjects of international import are treated in well-planned programs. Frequently, visiting speakers address the group. ¶ The International Relations Club endeavors to create among its members that better understanding of the foreign situation necessary for the maintenance of peace. ¶ The local chapter sends representatives to the Southeast International Relations Clubs' Conference each spring and to various other gatherings. The annual banquet is held in May. ¶ The high standards maintained by the local organization makes membership the most desirable of campus honors. ¶ Dr. A. M. Trawich is the faculty sponsor.

Sigma Tau Alpha is an honorary Christian leadership fraternity, founded at Wofford on November 18, 1937. Its primary aim is the development of Christian leadership through the rendering of Christian service. ¶ The fraternity is divided into five departments—Worship, Deputation, Radio, Publicity, Music—each being headed by a departmental director who is a member of the President's Cabinet. This cabinet assigns each member to that department in which he is best suited to serve. ¶ Membership is achieved only by invitation, based upon a creditable class standing, a record of worthy service, and recognition of potential ability. A member may be dropped from membership for lack of interest, non-attendance, or conduct unbecoming to a Christian. Both lay and ministerial students compose the membership. The Wofford Chapter, numerically, is about evenly divided between lay and ministerial students. ¶ Briefly, the work of the Wofford Chapter

The Wofford Chapter of Beta Pi Theta, national honorary French fraternity, is known as the Theta Rho chapter. It is one of thirty-four chapters of the organization which was founded in Birmingham, Alabama, in 1926. Wofford's chapter dates from 1927. ¶ The organization has for its purpose the drawing together of students interested in French language and culture. ¶ The local group has more or less regular meetings at which French essays are read, poetry recited and literature discussed. ¶ The feature of the club has been in years past a Christmas program, which was attended by students, their friends and visitors from other colleges. Active plans have been made for an Easter program. The members put much effort and preparation into these programs, whose success is due primarily to the efforts of Prof. J. L. Salmon, the faculty adviser for the organization.

Wofford is justly proud of her chapter of Delta Phi Alpha, national honorary German fraternity. It is no wonder for the fraternity was founded on this campus in 1929 by Dr. J. A. Chiles, head of the department of modern languages. The fraternity now has forty-one chapters in schools from Maine to Florida and New York to Los Angeles. § Alpha chapter has meetings at which various phases of German life and literature are discussed. Literary figures being currently studied in advance German classes are favored in consideration.

SIGMA UPSILON

Sigma Upsilon, national honorary fraternity for students showing ability and interest in creative literary endeavor, was founded in 1906. Canterbury chapter was established at Wofford in 1926. ¶ Since membership of the organization is composed entirely of students taking an active part in campus publication work, the chapter's greatest accomplishment has been to bring these men together and permit an exchange of criticisms and ideas. Among the membership of the organization are the heads of the three publications: The Bohemian, The Journal and the Old Gold and Black, besides others active in creative literary circles on the campus. ¶ At meetings of the group, problems and issues arising out of the three publications are brought into open discussion, in addition to the individual criticisms made of writing styles, subject matter, makeup and editorial policy.

THE GAVEL

The Gavel, honorary forensic fraternity, was founded in December, 1937, to replace the inactive chapter of Pi Kappa Delta. The charter members included the six varsity debaters and the winner of the oratorical contest the previous year. The group has steadily grown in influence and prestige since that time. ¶ Membership standards are high, and the organization is composed only of those men who have proven themselves proficient public speakers and debaters. ¶ The Gavel has supervision of the debate activities on the campus and annually chooses a five-man Debate Council to assume this control.

The Stratford Players is the dramatic organization of the Wofford campus. Its membership is composed of those students who are particularly interested in the study of drama and the production of plays. The group co-operated with the Palmetto Players of Converse College to produce two plays during the past season, including Wilder's "Our Town." The members also worked with the Lions Club of Spartanburg to produce "The Lionette." Each member participated in at least one of the productions. ¶ Students are elected to the club upon recognition of their interest and ability in dramatics.

The Alpha Lambda Tau Fraternity was founded at Oglethorpe University, Atlanta, Georgia, in 1921. Kappa chapter was established at Wofford in 1928. An alumni chapter was established in Spartanburg in 1937. ¶ Alpha Lambda Tau's have been outstanding in football for several years and this year was no exception. John Workman was captain and stellar guard on this year's Terrier team. Sam Wofford was also a guard on the team. Workman was also vice-president of the Student Body, member of the Senior Order of Gnomes, Blue Key, Chi Beta Phi, Scabbard and Blade and Captain of Co. D in the R. O. T. C. Unit. Delbert Howle was a member of Delta Phi Alpha, and Sam Wofford was a member of Beta Pi Theta. ¶ Alpha Lambda Tau was well represented in the newly established Aeronautics Course. Lyle Baker, Delbert Howle and Bill Ezell soon lost their shirt tails and were flying all over the countryside. Bob Smith and Bob Blackburn were already old hands at this bird business before this course was installed. ¶ Five Alpha Lambda Taus were in the Glee Club and six were in the advanced R. O. T. C. Unit. ¶ During the year several smokers, parties and informal dances were held. The annual Alpha Lambda Tau informal dance was held in the spring. A house party at Myrtle Beach is being planned for the second week in June. ¶ The home of Alpha Lambda Tau, where the weekly meetings, smokers and bull sessions are held is in the State Theater building in Spartanburg's main block.

The Delta Sig has many alumni in the city who co-operate with them in the execution of their social functions and other activities. Among the several outstanding men on the Delta Sig rolls are Bill Carnes, president of the I. R. C., president of the Chi Beta Phi, member of the Blue Key, on the roll of Who's Who in American Colleges, president of the Preston Literary Society, and manager of the Debating Team. T. H. Evans and Bob Gamble are both in the Senior R. O. T. C. Unit, and are both first lieutenants. E. S. Clark is an outstanding member of the basketball team, and Lavoy Bauknight and Everett Moody are members of the Freshman football team. ¶ This year the Delta Sigs went to the finals in the Intra-mural football games, and we are hoping to hear of great things of them in basketball. ¶ The fraternity is fortunate in having as directors of their social life here in the city, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Wilson. Each Tuesday night after the meeting the boys go out to "Mom's and Doc's" for social entertainment. Every two weeks, they have some form of social entertainment, usually a wiener roast, banquet, smoker, or dance in the home of an alumnus. ¶ This year their annual Founder's Day Banquet and Dance was held on December 10 at the Cleveland Hotel. ¶ Each year the alumni of Spartanburg sponsor a Sailors' Ball, which is characteristic of the fraternity.

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College (now Washington and Lee University) December 21, 1865. Delta chapter was founded at Wofford on February 23, 1869. This fraternity has more alumni living in the city than any other. This chapter boasts the membership of Dr. J. A. Gamewell, Wofford Latin professor and oldest living member of Kappa Alpha, Dean A. Mason DuPré, and Dr. D. D. Wallace, professor of history.

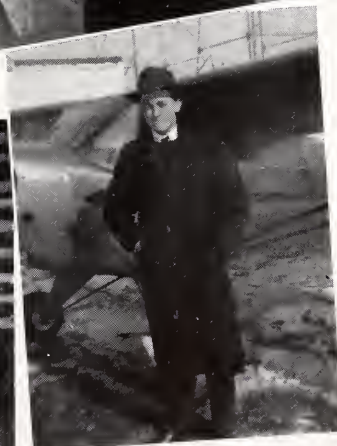

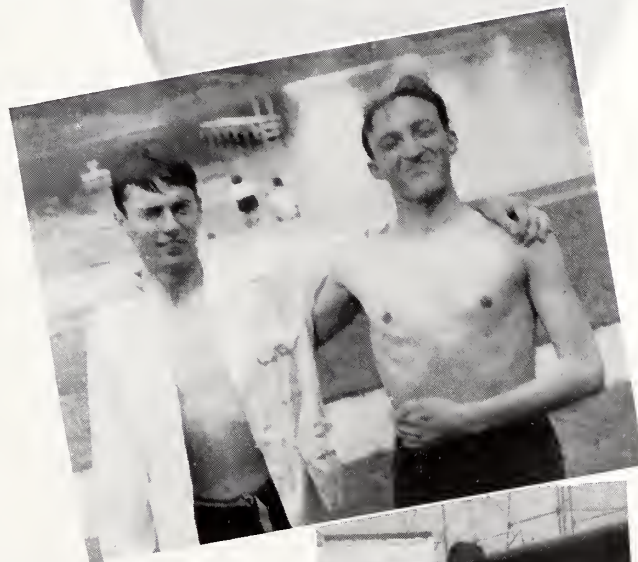

¶ The group boasts a number of campus leaders. Dick Rouquie, the president, is alternate captain of the 1939 football team and is a member of the varsity basketball team. He is also secretary and treasurer of the Blue Key. John Bomar is a member of Scabbard and Blade. Pep Coan and John Shuler are first-string basketball and tennis men. A number of the men are included in the C. A. A. program for training pilots at Wofford. ¶ Social functions played an important part in the group's activities during the year. Numerous parties were held by friends and alumni in town. The annual banquet was held in January and the spring dance was held April 12. The chapter is planning a house party at one of the beaches this summer.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity was founded at the University of Bologna in 1400 A. D. The first American chapter was founded at the University of Virginia on December 10, 1869, and the chapter at Wofford in 1894. ¶ Since the founding of the first American chapter, Kappa Sigma has spread to colleges and universities distributed throughout the United States and Canada. Kappa Sigma owns houses valued at approximately $3,000,000. An endowment of nearly a half-million dollars is used as a loan fund for Kappa Sigma students who need help in order to finish their education. Kappa Sigma is one of only two fraternities to publish a magazine for its members monthly during the college year and issues to every initiate a subscription for life. ¶ The Alpha Nu Chapter of Kappa Sigma, at Wofford, is represented in extra-curricular activities as follows: student director of the Glee Club; baton director of the Terrier Aces; members in the Stratford Players, Chi Beta Phi, Delta Phi Alpha, I. R. C., Sigma Tau Alpha, Pi Gamma Mu; vice-president of Blue Key; members in Scabbard and Blade and six members in the advance corps of the R. O. T. C. unit. In athletics members take part in freshman and varsity football, track and freshman basketball. Managership of the track team is held by a member and the chapter is represented on the sports and business staff of the Old Gold and Black. ¶ Many and varied social events were put on by the chapter during the year. Parties and dances were held at the homes of Spartanburg alumni throughout the year. The outstanding social function was the formal banquet and dance held at the Cleveland Hotel on February 9, 1940, with many local and out-of-town alumni present for the occasion.

Pi Kappa Phi was founded December 10, 1904, at the College of Charleston, Charleston, South Carolina. ¶ Zeta chapter was founded at Wofford College in 1911, and grew rapidly. The World War interfered with activities and no active work was undertaken during the years 1916-19. ¶ A successful rushing season was held and twenty new men were pledged. Most of these pledges are active in college activities. Several are active in the Glee Club, the Terrier Aces, and the members of the freshman basketball squad. ¶ "Harv" Atwater and Bud Burnett are members of the varsity football squad. Several of their members belong to the Chi Beta Phi, Delta Phi Alpha, International Relations Club and the Stratford Players. Several of the members hold offices on the business staff of the Bohemian. ¶ The outstanding social affairs of the fraternity were the annual Founder's Day Banquet, held at the Franklin Hotel, and the annual Spring Dance held on April 5, 1940, at the Woman's Club. These two outstanding events along with parties given throughout the year constituted the social calendar of the fraternity. ¶ Although primarily a social organization, scholarship is a respected qualification in the fraternity. The aim of the fraternity is to stimulate its members in the two important college fields, social and scholastic.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was founded in 1856 at the University of Alabama. South Carolina Gamma chapter was established in 1885 and re-established in 1923 after being inactive for a number of years because of anti-fraternity regulations. ¶ Of nine new men pledged during the year, six were initiated into active membership in January, making a total of twenty-five active members in the chapter. ¶ The chapter is credited with a number of outstanding students and leaders on the campus. George Richardson, president of the chapter, is also president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, a member of International Relations Club, Chi Beta Phi, and Scabbard and Blade, honorary organizations. Henry Snyder is a writer and debater in addition to being president of Students' Christian Association. Francis Garrett, varsity tennis and basketball star, is also a member of Blue Key, and other honorary organizations. The fraternity is well represented in practically all activities on the campus. ¶ Founder's Day Banquet was held March 2 at the Cleveland Hotel. There were several fraternity parties, including steak suppers in the mountains; and the crowning social affair was a Spring Dance given in honor of the local chapter by the Spartanburg alumni. The fraternity will have a house party during the summer at Pawley's Island. ¶ At the beginning of the year the members completed adjustments necessary after moving into a new location. The three rooms the chapter uses in the Greenwald Building were well painted and furnished. ¶ This school year was an active one for the fraternity. The members exchanged visits with the chapters at Furman and the University of South Carolina, attending Founder's Day celebrations and parties.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

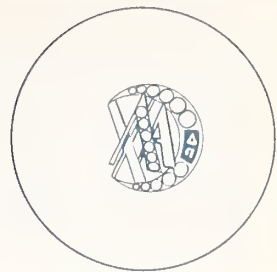

MISS FRANCES COLVIN

Lambda Chi Alpha was founded at Boston University October 1, 1909. Lambda Chi Alpha stands third among national fraternities with 107 chapters. Its position was strengthened when it amalgamated with Theta Kappa Nu, another strong national fraternity, late in the summer of 1939. ¶ Kappa Omicron-Zeta was established at Wofford May 15, 1926. The fraternity occupies comfortable quarters above Boyd's Dress Shop on East Main Street. As the hall is modernly equipped it provides an ideal meeting place for informal social life of the members. ¶ The chapter has an active interest in campus activities. A. J. Hydrick, president of the fraternity, is a member of the Gavel and the Pan-Hellenic Council. James Shands is president of the Beta Pi Theta, member of the International Relations Club and is business manager of the Bohemian. Ruple Harley is president of the Stratford Players and a member of the Pan-Hellenic Council. M. L. Collins is a member of Beta Pi Theta. ¶ A glance at the activity schedule of the chapter shows that the chapter was extremely busy. K. P. Richardson was the delegate to the convention at Birmingham, Alabama. October 15 was observed by the chapter as "Union Day," commemorating the merger between Lambda Chi Alpha and Theta Kappa Nu. Several parties and informal gatherings were enjoyed by the members. Ed Bash, retiring traveling secretary of the national fraternity, visited the chapter for a few days in October. Tozier Brown, new traveling secretary, was entertained by a party and an informal supper given in his honor. ¶ Late in March, true to Lambda Chi Alpha tradition, the annual banquet and dance was given by the fraternity. It was a colorful affair which rounded out a year of great activity.

The W Club

Membership in the Block "W" Club is rightly considered as a signal honor on the Wofford campus. The winners of two blocks in one or more major sports become members automatically. Football, basketball, track, and baseball are major sports at Wofford. The organization is strictly an honorary one and it is not required to have regular meetings, but they may be called at the discretion of the president, the club's only officer. The club is by nature and organization virtually inactive.

and the COACHING STAFF

The success or failure of any team depends to a great extent upon its coaches. Wofford has a staff of five well trained, experienced coaches, who tutor the students in the fundamentals of athletics.

- Jules Carson Director of Athletics; Head Coach of Football and Track
- Roy Robertson Coach of Basketball and Baseball
- Phil Dickens Assistant Football Coach; Coach of Freshman Basketball
- Lyles Alley Freshman Football Coach
- W. A. Dotherow Assistant Football Coach

THE SEASON

The wind was strong; the angle, bad; the distance, too far. He wouldn't make it. But—he did! And Wofford's Homecoming Day was a success because of the beautiful field goal from High Point's twenty-six yard line. The "old grads" came to see this new athletic set-up introduced this year on our campus—and went back home satisfied. ¶ No, we did not turn out a championship football team this year; but the improvement was remarkable. With material that was no better than in previous years, Coaches Carson and Dickens sent out on the field on Saturdays a team that had the spirit for which we have been looking for years. To that mysterious spark and to a feeling of cooperation which makes eleven men into one team, we give credit for the difference between a poor and a successful season.

THE GAMES

WOFFORD 0—MERCER 12

The Mercer Bears invaded Snyder Field expecting an easy victory, but at the half the score was still 0-0. Time and again they had driven into Wofford territory only to be stopped by the stubborn Terrier forward wall. ¶ Unable to go through, they went over; and the last two quarters each yielded a touchdown set up by passes. ¶ The Terriers had started the season with a defeat, but they had showed John Q. Football-Fan that no matter what the size of the opponents, they were not letting any one through the line.

WOFFORD 0—NEWBERRY 0

The Terriers surprised the state by their performance at Newberry. Meeting the highly favored Indians under the floodlights they not only stopped the strong redskin offense, but showed a surprising offense themselves. ¶ Outplaying the Indians in almost every phase of the game, they kept the ball in Newberry territory almost the full four quarters; and twice drove past the five-yard line only to lose the ball without scoring.

WOFFORD 0—OGLETHORPE 0

After this game we began to despair of ever seeing another touchdown. It was a brilliant display of defensive power on the part of the Terriers in stopping the deceptive Oglethorpe plays but the offensive shown the week before at Newberry was missing.

WOFFORD 0—ERSKINE 6

This one was the big disappointment of the year. Every team has its "off-days." This was ours. ¶ The two teams battled on even terms most of the game, but a few seconds off guard gave the Seceders a score and the game. ¶ Late in the fourth quarter the Terrier ball-carriers got under way and worked the ball down to the Erskine eight-yard line—first and goal to go. Here was a story-book ending about to rob Erskine of her Homecoming glory, but Elias and Company bogged down here and the chance was lost.

WOFFORD 3—HIGH POINT 0

Homecoming Day! And the gala crowd of the season freezing in the stands watched Milt Maness boot a perfect field goal from the twenty-six yard line to win the game. ¶ It was not the most spectacular game of the season but it was highly satisfying. Led by Captain Workman, the line kept the goal line uncrossed again, keeping at the same time a noteworthy record of having yielded only eighteen points in the first five games. ¶ Wofford so outplayed the visiting Panthers that the lowness of the score did not give sufficient credit to the Terrier attack.

WOFFORD 0—HAMPDEN-SYDNEY 14

Journeying into Virginia the Terrier aggregation battled a strong Hampden-Sydney team on a nearly even plane—if we may judge by the first downs and yardage gained—but trailed by two touchdowns at the final whistle. ¶ Two long, spectacular runs netted Hampden-Sydney her two scores. No sustained drives of any length could be made through the lighter, but scrapping Wofford line. Wofford carried the ball to the Hampden-Sydney two-yard line but failed to reach pay-dirt.

WOFFORD 12—P. C. 12

Then comes the game of the year; Wofford versus P. C., generally admitted the best of the South Carolina "Little-Four" this season. We have our doubts about that. ¶ Marked by long, brilliant runs, the entire sixty minutes of action kept the spectators on the edges of the seats. ¶ P. C. drew first blood; then Elias evened the score, taking a well-timed pass from Jack Taggart just over the goal. Again P. C. tallied; but with only a few minutes left in the game a short plunge by Bud Burnett carried the ball over. Score tied! And the try for the extra point would tell the tale. But Maness' kick was blocked. Final results: Wofford 12—P. C. 12; the crowd, minus three thousand voices.

WOFFORD 2—THE CITADEL 21

Figure this one out, if you can. Wofford outplayed The Citadel in almost every department, looking better on the books in both yardage and first downs earned, yet lost by three touchdowns! ¶ Little Ralph "Rev." Atkinson provided the highlights of the game. Playing his last game before a crowd of ten thousand, he broke loose for several long gains. ¶ Other seniors seeing their last game in the Wofford uniform were Captain Johnny Workman, "Poof" Covington, Bob Moore, Dick Rouquie, Bill Hicks, Bill Buhrman, and Neetum Bagwell. ¶ And so, the first team under the new regime leaves a record of one victory, three ties, and five defeats. Yes, it can be improved upon—and it will be—but at least we have proved we can play good football when the odds are against us. A little more punch when we get within the opponents' ten-yard line, and—well, we shall be looking for that in next year's team.

A tangle in the P. C. game.

COACH LYLES ALLEY

The FROSH PLAY FOOTBALL

One victory, two ties, two defeats. Not bad, Pups. ¶ Coach Lyles Alley's freshman team battled two strong junior college teams to scoreless ties in their first two games. The first, against Brevard, was a draw in almost every department; and the Wofford freshmen lacked only a little experience and—a score. ¶ For their second encounter the Pups traveled to Mars Hill and held the favored Mars Hill Lions to a second scoreless tie. ¶ They lost the next one to P. C. freshmen at Chester to the tune of 13-7, scoring the touchdown on a pass from Moody to Coleman. ¶ The thriller of the freshman season came against Erskine's frosh. Marked with long runs and brilliant goal-line defense, the game was one of the best of the year from the standpoint of the spectator. The only score came in the third quarter when Moody smashed through for forty yards and a touchdown. ¶ In their final game, the Pups dominated the first half, leading the Davidson freshmen 13-6 at the half-time period; but a fierce passing attack swept over three Davidson touchdowns and the final gun of the season found our Wofford freshmen trailing 13-25.

B A S K E T B A L L

The Season ON THE

SHULER

Coach Robertson's basketball proteges racked up 13 victories to six defeats to wind up in second place in the South Carolina state race. After the regular season they received a bid to the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association tournament in Bowling Green, Kentucky, on the basis of the best S. I. A. A. record in the state—nine won and two lost; but lost in the first round to the strong defending champions, and winners of the tournament, Western University of Kentucky. ¶ Beginning the 1940 season with a successful southern trip, the Terriers trimmed Mercer at Macon and Pensacola Flyers at Pensacola, Florida, then dropped one to the same team before traveling to De Land to take two straight from Stetson's Hatters. ¶ Evidently the boys had not fully recovered from traveling when they lost the first home game to Erskine 19-33, playing ragged ball. Looking much better later in the week, they sent Newberry's Indians back home on the short end of a 39-30 score. But the Erskine jinx popped up again and the Terrier five lost again 30-22 at Due West. ¶ A miracle team faced Furman two nights later on the Wofford court and the favored Paladins were swamped by a 52-37 tidal wave as Shuler and Flynn ran wild with 17 and 16 points, respectively. Then followed a successful Charleston trip with victories over the Citadel, 45-39, and the College of Charleston, 31-23, plus two more wins away from home over Newberry, 50-39, and P. C. 29-24—which made all eyes of South Carolina's basketball public turn to Wofford's "Five Iron Men," "The Surprise Team of the year." ¶ Not even a close loss to Furman in Greenville by a 49-45 score worried anyone much for the Terriers came right back to sweep aside Stetson by a 31-21 score, the College of Charleston 42-27, and Presbyterian College 47-32. ¶ Having cinched the second position in the state race and a bid to the S. I. A. A. tournament, and favoring a bad charley-horse, a turned ankle and a sprained toe, the Terrier hoopmen let up in the last two games, losing to the Citadel 28-23 and to Mercer 47-41. ¶ And so we toss laurels to Coach Roy Robertson and his scrappy Terriers for a fine season. They were smaller than most of their opponents in size, but larger in scoring. Five of the six depended on this year to do most of the work will be back next year. We warn the other teams of the state now—watch out!

TENNIS Teams

Tennis is a sport engaged in by a large number of the Wofford students. Prospects for this year's team are bright. Lettermen returning include Herbert, Garrett, Coan, Shuler, and Flynn. The Freshman team is, as this goes to press, being whipped into shape and looks as though it will end the season well up on the win column. The schedule is incomplete as this goes to press.

From early in the fall with the advent of touch football through the year with basketball, volleyball, and ending with softball in the spring, Wofford men who are unable to participate in varsity sports for one reason or another vie in hot intramural races keeping an eye shaded in the direction of the symbol of supremacy. ¶ Every season the competition becomes stiffer. Touch football assumes the aspect of the real thing at times. Basketball puts a high premium on practice and teamwork. Volleyball calls out the best of the non-varsity crop. Softball furnishes a taper-off prior to the end of classes. This year even ping-pong and bowling have been brought into the intramural competition. ¶ Thus with a varied program of intramural activities, Wofford offers the chance of participation in sports to all students who cannot make the varsity grade or who for lack of time are unable to play on varsity teams. ¶ A feeling of fraternity, good sportsmanship, and friendly rivalry is created through this directed program.

Athletics at Wofford

Snaps

This year marks a new era in athletics at Wofford. After several disastrous seasons of football the college decided to grant a number of athletic scholarships and strengthen the coaching staff. The college also employed Major LeRoy Hill Cox of the class of 1924 as Alumni Secretary. In this capacity he has part in the administration of the program which is financed jointly by the citizens of Spartanburg, the alumni, and the college itself. ¶ The plan is to find those men whose athletic ability and scholastic standing make them desirable holders of the scholarships and bring them to Wofford. It is hoped to improve not only the athletic situation in this way, but also to secure a group of students who will maintain a creditable scholastic average. ¶ This year the plan was launched and operated on a small scale. The coaching staff was greatly strengthened by the addition of Phil Dickens as assistant football coach and coach of freshman basketball. A number of promising high school seniors were granted athletic scholarships and made a promising showing on the football field. These men were tutored by Lyles Alley, former Furman star. Several junior college men were secured and made valuable additions to the varsity squad. ¶ The season—not as good as it could have been, but a decided improvement. The teams in all intercollegiate contests showed a remarkable spirit and persistence. This spirit—this failure to quit when the odds were against them, sometime turned defeat into victory. ¶ We think the plan is succeeding. If you don't think so just watch next year's teams.

The 1940 Bohemian is the work of many people. The Editor and the Business Manager are particularly indebted to many too numerous to mention. In particular they wish to express their gratitude to their staffs for their fine co-operation and counsel. The Editor and Business Manager wish to express their appreciation to the following: ¶ To Charles A. Gerrell of Van Dyke Studios, the official Bohemian photographer, for his constant and persistent work to improve the quality of the annual. ¶ To Johnny Long of Foote & Davies and Walt Dargan and Miss Helen Morgan of Photo Process Company for their advice and work in making the 1940 Bohemian a creditable publication. ¶ Finally, to Professor W. R. Bourne, faculty adviser, and to the Publications Board for not interfering with our work, but being ready to help in any capacity when needed. ¶ To these and all others who have contributed toward the 1940 Bohemian we express our gratitude.

PROPER LIGHT PROTECTS EYES

One school child in five already has impaired vision. At college age, two in five are either wearing glasses or should be. Eye strain takes a heavy toll of human energy and well-being. Science now tells us that much of this appalling waste comes from improper and insufficient light.
